

Get Out

EDITED BY JENNIFER WEISS

:: FESTIVALS ::

SCULPT THE TOWN

4-5 To celebrate the launch of an urban sculpture park in Long Branch, the Shore Institute of the Contemporary Arts is hosting "Sculpt!"—an imaginative weekend devoted to all things shaped and chiseled. See "living sculpture" (below), sand sculpture, hair and body sculpture (think big hair and bodybuilding), and three exhibitions of sculpture, one with work by local high-school students. • The sculpture installation in Long Branch, dubbed "Sculptoure," will feature artists who were chosen from around the country. Their works will be displayed from May 5 to October 14 throughout the city's downtown area, on the promenade along the ocean, and in Pier Village. • For more information, call 732-263-1121 or visit sica.org.

