This will be the SIXTH ANNUAL competition to highlight the finest young sculptors in New Jersey sponsored by The Shore Institute of the Contemporary Arts. We will be looking for those high school students who excel in the three-dimensional arts -- those who demonstrate not only technical achievement in the handling of their material but that essential creativity which demonstrates the spirit of contemporary art today.

A group of the best sculptors will be selected to have their work displayed in a special exhibition at SICA from May 5 - 25, 2012. The opening reception on the evening of May 5th will be held simultaneously with the First Saturday city-wide celebration in Asbury Park. It will also be up for SCULPTOURE 2012 (SICA's Urban Sculpture Park), which begins on May 12, 2012. In other words, the finalists will have their work seen by hundreds (if not thousands!) and have their exhibition in conjunction with the exhibition of some of the finest sculptors around.
