We've written a lot about Sculptoure, the Shore Institute of Contemporary Art (SICA) citywide sculpture exhibition under way in Long Branch throughout the summer. This week, in a triThese special, we thought we'd show you more of what we've been writing about.

On this page and the following three you'll find photos of Sculptoure. A guide map to all the work is available at SICA, 20 Third Avenue, Long Branch. Let these photos be an introduction to the work and the artists before you go check it out for yourself...as we know you'll want to...

After all, art like this is what keeps the triCity region from the abyss of a new dark age; it keeps the suburban barbarians at bay...

Although, they're certainly welcome to come check out the art!
